WILKINSON, 1658.

The Second Part of this Kalender for the Year of our Lord Christ, 1658.

Being the second after Bissextile or Skip year.

Wherein you have the Alpha and Omega of this present year; the Eclipses of the Sun and Moon; a large catalogue of most of the noted Fairs in Great Britain, alphabetically set down for the ready and easie finding thereof; most excellent presidents of Bonds, Bills, Releases, and Acquittances; very usefull Tables for the casting up of Interest money, and purchasing of Annuities: as also many necessary Rules, and Observations for all sorts of people, especially for the honest and plain-dealing Countrey man. The Astronomical Calculations being chiefly referred to the Longitude and Latitude of the renowned Town of Northampton, and may be generally usefull for the whole Island.

Made and set forth according to Art,

By Thomas Now-hil. sin.

Potesť qui sciens est multos stellarum effectus avertere, quando naturam earum noverit, & se ipsum ante illarum eventum preparare. Ptolom. Centiloq. 5.

London, Printed by E. Alsop, for the Company of Stationers. 1658.

Wilkenson, 1658.

A very usefull Table for the purchasing of Leases, or Annuities, shewing what 1 pound annuity or yearly Rent, so continue for any number of years to 100, is worth in ready money at 6 per Cent.

The Table is so plain, that the weakest and meanest capacity may understand it. But seeing examples do fully resolve the greatest doubts, take this one for all.

Quest. What is 6 l. per annum to continue for 10 years worth in ready money?

Ans. Against 10 in the first row under years of the purchase, I find 7 l. 7 sh. 2 d. and so much is 1 l. per annum worth for 10 years: so then by consequence 6 l. per annum must be 6 times as much, viz. 44 l. 3 sh. The like of any other yearly rent.

A compendious description of the four quarters of this present year 1658.

The year, of some called Æra, hath divers beginnings: Numa Pompilius began it at the hyemal Solstice.

Vilkinson, 1658.

At Ramms at the vernal Equinox, the Arabians at the tropical solstice, some others at the autumnal Equinox; Astronomers upon the first of January: But we of the Commonwealth of England, for the dating of all legal compact, and writings, do begin the year upon March the beginning of the Spring, a time most pleasing and comfortable to all things that have either life or motion. I therefore (though somewhat deviating from the common track) will first treat of that.

Ver, the Spring, a viror dicitur, quod tum omnia vivere incipiunt. This quarter is hot and moist, sanguine, compared to childhood, and begins March 10, being Wednesday, and ends June 11 next following.

Bright shining Phœbus now is seen
to lengthen out the days,

And make each vegetable green
by vertue of his rays;

The pretty birds now sit and sing;
and Flora spends her hours

To welcome in the pleasant Spring,
and deck the fields with flowers.

Of the Summer quarter.

Stas, Summer, ab æstu dicitur, quia Sol in æstote maxime calet, Aer ardet, & spica arer. This quarter is hot and dry, cholerick, resembling manhood, and takes beginning on Fryday June 11, 7 minutes after the 12 of the clock in the morning, and determines upon the 23 of September.

Now Tytan mounted up on high,
threatneth the earth to burn:

But whilst he prauceseth through the skie,
he downwards doth return:

And from the Northern signs amain
beginneth to decline,

untill that he hath caught again
the Equinoctial line.

Wilkinson, 1658.

Of the Autumn, or Harvest.

Autumnus quasi augure dicitur. This quarter is cold and dry, melancholy, compared to declining age, and doth initiate upon Munday Septemb, 13. 8 minutes after 1 in the morning, and makes his period Decemb, 11. about one of the clock in the afternoon.

The earth and trees now ready stand to yeeld their fruits and leaves,

*And Ceres Nymphs are now at hand
to gather in her sheaves;*

*And Flora thinks to hide her head
within her mothers womb,*

*And there to lie again as dead
until the Spring doth come.*

Of winter.

HYems, the winter, sic dicta; et eo rō ō, plus, quod id tempus pluviosum fit. This quarter is cold and moist phlegmatick, resembling decrepit age, and did enter the last year on Fryday the 11 of December, 31 minutes after 6 in the morning, at which time the Sun did wade into the watry sign capricorn.

*Dame Flora now her face doth hide
for fear of frost and snow;*

Nor may she Boreas blasts abide upon her for to blow:

*The trees likewise stand quivering now,
expecting still the Spring,
which to them leaves, and tender boughs,
and sap again doth bring.*

Of the Eclipses.

There will not appear any visible Eclipses of either of the Luminaries this Year to us, the inhabitants of Great Britain: Nihil nocent Eclipses illis regionibus in quibus non videntur. Therefore hope for good.

Elections and Observations concerning Husbandry.

Sow all kind of seeds the Moon increasing and swift of course. Remove & set young trees & stocks, in the last quarter the Moon in taurus or capricorn, in September, October, November, December, January, or February. Sow all kind of Corn the Moon increasing in can- cer. Gather all kind of Fruits at or presently after the full. fell Timber in Winter in the last quarter of the Moon, and she under the earth in aspect of saturn. Manure your fields to have plenty of grass, in February, the Moon increasing, but muck your Land to kill the weeds, the Moon decreasing.

Wilkinson, 1658.

Of the Year.

The year containeth months (Solar 12, Lunar 13) in which are V Weeks 52, Days 366, hours, 8760.

In matters of Law, we the inhabitants of Great Britain, account the day to begin at sun-rising, and to end at sun-setting. Wherefore whosoever is bound to pay a sum of money on a set or certain day, need not tender it before sun-rise nor after sun-set. But inditements of murder, we reckon the day from midnight to midnight.

Of Measure Geometrical.

Thirteen Barley corns in length makes one inch, 12 inches make a foot, 3 foot make a yard, 5 yards and a half or 16 half feet make a statute perch or pole, 40 perch or poles make a furlong, and 8 furlong make an English mile. So then an English mile

Contains	{	Perches 320.
		Yards 1760.
		Feet 5280.
		Inches 63360.
		Barley corns 190080.

An acre by statute contains 40 perches or poles in length, and 4 in breadth, and in square measure 160 perches. A foot of timber square contains 1728 square inches; but a foot of board or glass contains but 144 square inches. If you would know how much in length of any breadth either of board or glass will make a square foot, devide 144 by the inches which the breadth contains, the quotient will shew how much of the same breadth will make a foot square.
